

FORGET THE HIGH FIVERS

Reckon it's time you had an emotional intelligence tune-up? Forget about overseas presenters swooping in to command and conquer, without giving you any backup support once the high's worn off and the circus has left town. What you need is to get on the good stuff, something that's much, much more than just motivational psychobabble.

food for thought

Q - How much of career success is due to IQ?
